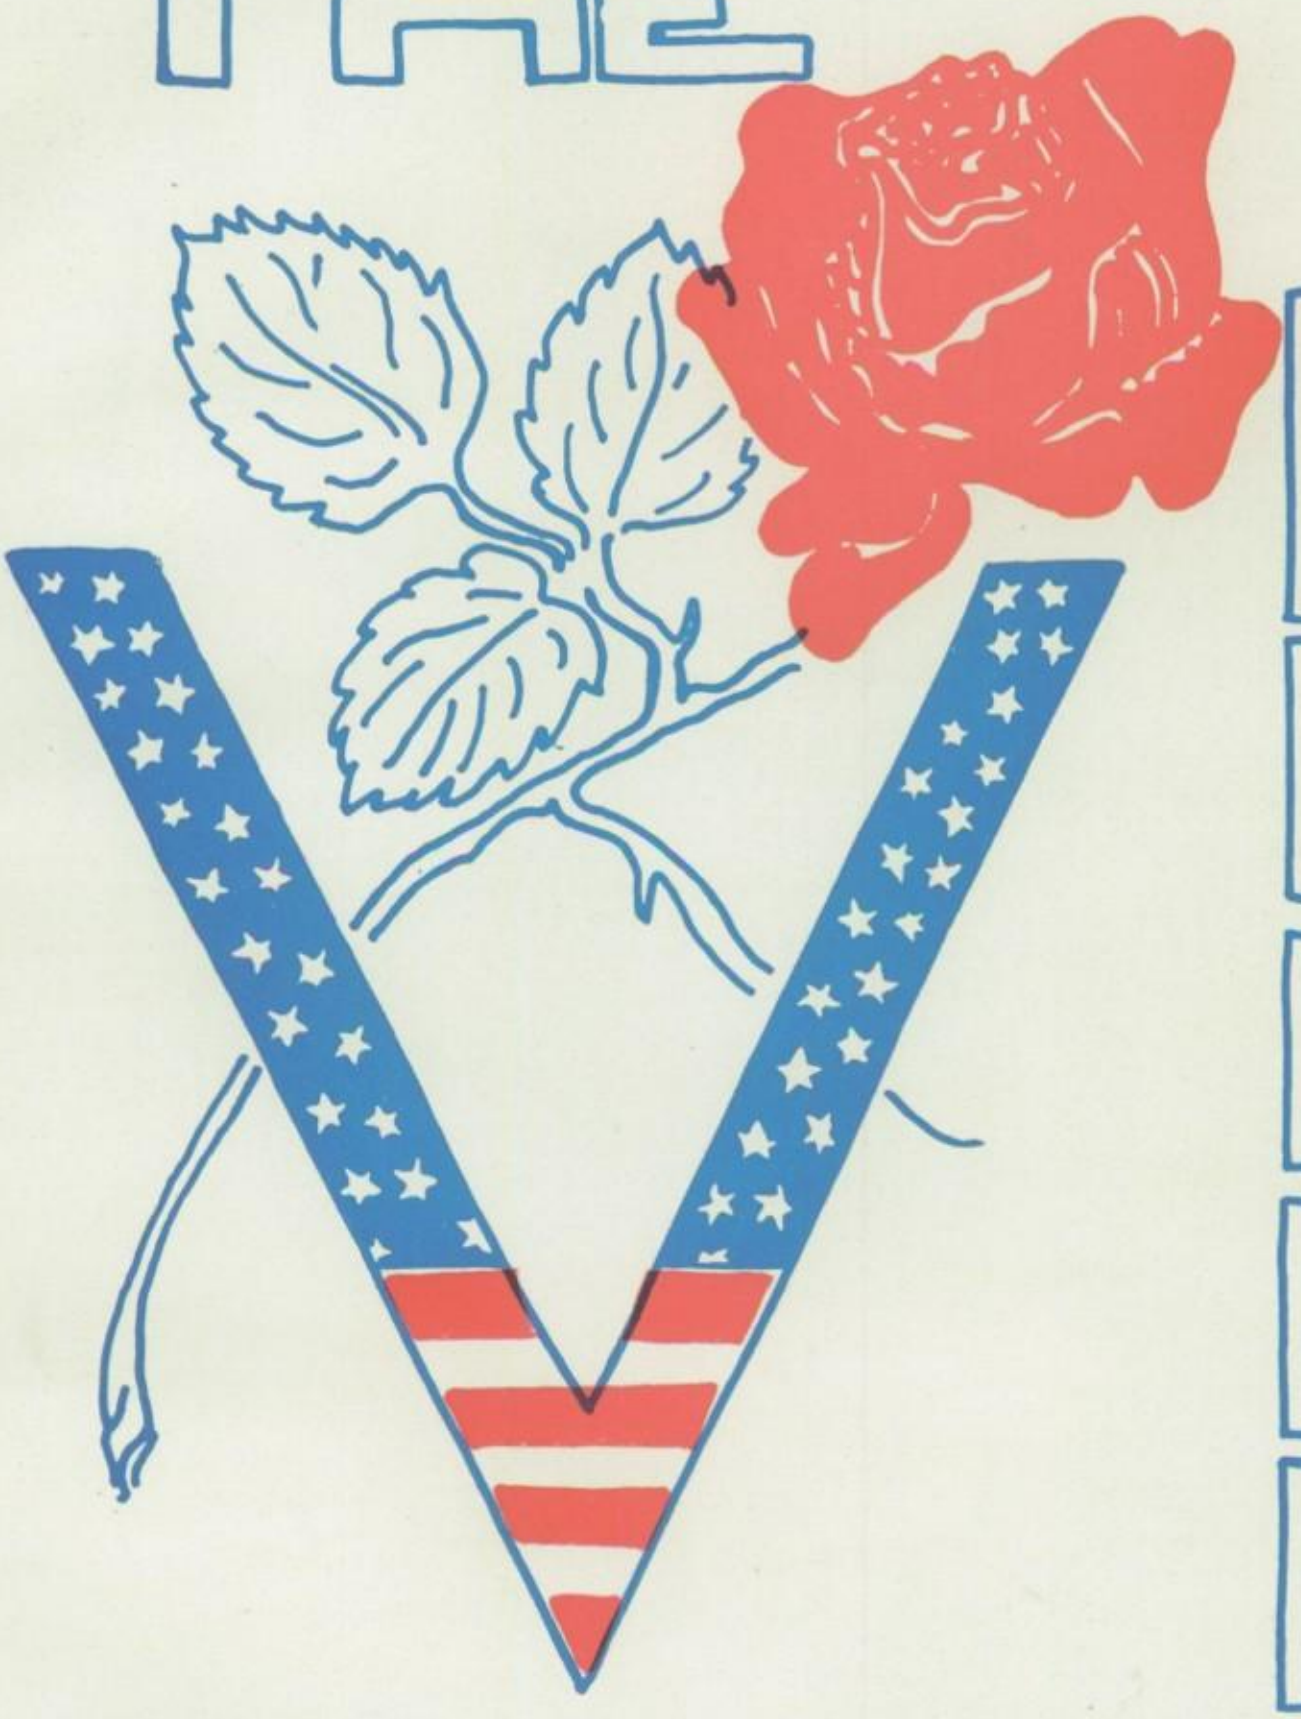
ANNUAL '44

THE ANNUAL



1974

BEVE B.

Foreword

Each year the graduating class of West Linn High School puts out what it believes to be the best annual of all. Although we were handicapped by the war in many of our activities, we feel the spirit of West Linn High has remained undaunted. It is our belief that students, faculty, and our alumni in the service have shown great loyalty and courage. We hope that in future years, as we look back, this annual will still be a reminder of the true West Linn High School spirit.

Dedication

This Annual is respectfully dedicated to our Superintendent and Principal, John L. Gary.

John L. Gary, retiring principal of West Linn High School, affectionately referred to by the students as "King John," is a man who has rendered excellent service to our school for the past twenty-five years. During this time he has given unsparingly of his time in the interest of the students and the faculty. Mr. Gary possesses a winning personality and has shown remarkable ability in solving the many problems that have developed.

While we regret his leaving we wish him prosperity and health and hope that his success in this new venture will be as great as it was at West Linn.

Our class of January, 1944, has the distinction of being the first mid-term graduating class of West Linn High School. Many of our class, both boys and girls, were already planning to join some branch of the armed service—they would not be here in June to come back for graduation exercises so mid-term exercises were held. We wish to thank the faculty and our two able advisors, Miss Moffatt and Mr. Main, for their guidance through our three and a half years of high school. Although the semester passed rapidly, we had many good times and take away with us pleasant memories of West Linn High School.

Class Will

We, the January graduating class of 1944, being about to possess our diplomas, still in our right minds and under no influences, do declare this our last will and testament, dividing our great abundance of hidden assets among our esteemed faculty and the poor and feeble-minded students who still attend this institution.

To the June Class, we leave our reputation for them to live down.

To the Junior Girls, the hope that the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps leave enough freshman boys to go around.

To the Junior Boys, the sincere hope that you will receive your sheepskins before you move into the fox holes.

Wayne Robertson leaves his knock-knees to Guy Foreman. [How you gonna see air between 'em in the navy?]

Norrene Peterson leaves her sailor boy friends to the sophomore girls.

Chuck Marshall leaves his little brother "Harmon-can-do-no-harm" Marshall for the girls to fight over.

Claudia Isham leaves her string of broken hearts to any one who can mend them.

Hank Quade leaves the trials and tribulations of a city editor to Mary Kay J. Johnson.

Al Cissman leaves his hull-k to shipbuilder Henry Kaiser.

Art Huebner leaves the football team of '44 his little inspiration from '43.

Walt Logsdon leaves his list of phone numbers to anyone ambitious enough to copy them.

Bill Larson leaves the worries of a student body president to Bob Brending.

Johnny Stone wills his copy of "How to Influence Friends and Win People" to King John I.

Chuck Marx gives all his cuts back to Mrs. Meiritz.

Pat Brennan leaves her little sister to carry on—and how!

Lee Hornshuh leaves his collection of used razor blades to the scrap drive.

Gloria Eisele bequeaths her personality and sweet disposition to the faculty.

Izzie Vinson leaves her flirting to become a nurse.

Bob Hooff leaves his six feet two to Jimmy Zittle.

Bud Larson leaves his abundant blonde hair to C. O. Main.

Marilyn Rust gives her quiet unassuming ways to Bob Wievesiek.

Darrel Thompson would will Mr. Brown a ton of shot gun shells, [if he had any].

Cecil Johnson wills his bulging biceps to Tarzan.

In Witness whereof—we have set our hand this 21st day of January, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Forty-four.

Signed,

Pat Brennan

HANK QUADE

WAYNE ROBERTSON

Class Prophecy—January Seniors

Dear Marilyn:

I understand that you have just returned from South America. I still can't realize you are the famed Entomologist Rust. Did you find that rare species of insect you were hunting for?

The last time I saw you we were talking over old times, wondering what had become of our classmates that graduated from old West Linn, so I decided to look as many of them up as possible on my vacation. Locating some of them was quite a problem, but I hired the John Stone Detective Agency to help me out, with grand results.

Isabel Vinson was the most difficult to track down, but I've finally located her as a tourist guide in the Swiss Alps. She offered us cut rates if we ever cared to take a climb. She said she had received her inspiration for her work, riding up and down the train with Bill Larson, who operates the said train to the top of Mount Hood.

We were able to locate several in New York. As you know, Walt Logsdon writes the Advice to the Love-lorn column in one of the large New York papers, but did you also know Art Huebner conducts the sight-seeing bus through China Town?

It was by the sheerest of luck that we found one of the others. It was as we were walking down Broadway, that we looked in a restaurant window and there stood Wayne Robertson turning flap jacks. We went in and invited him to go to the opera with us to hear Lee Hornshuh in the leading role of the Desert Song, but Wayne preferred to go to the Madison Square Gardens to see Gloria Eisele, the world's greatest tight rope walker.

Of course, while we were in New York, we stayed in the hotel managed by Pat Brennan, but imagine our surprise to have the bell-hop who carried up our bags to turn out to be Cecil Johnson. On my way back home I stopped near Reno, Nevada, and visited Darrell Thompson's Dude Ranch. Taking a much needed rest there from the heavy work in Hollywood was Bud Larson, the great dress designer, and Albert Cissman, dance director of the follies.

On my way back up to Portland I stopped in San Francisco to hear Charles Marshall, who is a news commentator now. In his evening broadcast he told of the plans for the first around the world non-stop trip in a one-man submarine to be made by Bob Hooff and sponsored by Hank Quade, President of the Submarine Company. I feel sorry for Bob's wife [who was Claudia Isham] who must stay home and operate the streetcar between Oregon City and Portland for him while he is gone.

I guess I have told you of everyone of our old classmates, Oh no! there is Chuck Marx, about whom I neglected to tell you. He is piloting the plane between Seattle and Alaska. I will be seeing him in a few days as I must fly back to my hot dog stand on the Alcan Highway as the tourist trade is terrific.

Do drop in and see me before you leave the States again, and write soon.

AS EVER,

This West Linn High school class of June '44 faces an uncertain future—with almost the entire world involved in a terrible conflict. Of one thing though we are sure, that each and everyone of us is going out determined to do his bit to bring about a victorious peace. Many of us are going into the service of our country, both boys and girls. As we leave, we are thankful for the good times we have enjoyed at West Linn, for the guidance of our superintendent and principal, Mr. Gary, and for the ideals and knowledge the faculty gave us. Our high school days are over but we leave with the hope that those students who will take our place will keep up the West Linn High School spirit which always carries through what it starts and then adds some more.

Class Will

We, the members of the June Class of 1944, knowing that our glorious days at West Linn High School are almost over, do hereby wish to bestow upon our many friends our treasured possessions under the following terms:

First, to Mr. Gary, our sincerest gratitude for the profound interest he has shown in our work.

Second, to Miss Moffatt and Mr. Main, our deepest appreciation for guiding us through four wonderful years of high school.

Third, to all the faculty, we leave memories of good sportsmanship, excellent grades and perfect behavior.

Fourth, to the school board, we bequeath a very bright future, and,

Fifth, the individuals of this class submit their outstanding characteristics to those who are deserving.

I, Barbara Murray, leave my dignity to Maxine Fitzpatrick.
I, Eddie Witherspoon, leave my shyness to Bob Robinson.
I, Bev Hoffer, leave the Freshman boys to any eligible Junior girl.
I, Gilbert Godeholt, leave my red hair to Walt Burgess providing he takes my freckles also.
I, Clydelle Hughes, leave Arnold Carlson to Eunice Surerus.
I, Elaine Hellberg, leave my pep to next year's Pep Club.
I, Bob Bailey, leave my wolfish instincts to Gene Deschamps.
I, Lucille Veelman, leave my citizenship to my little brother.
I, Phyllis Gubser, leave my throne to some beautiful Junior girl.
I, Jim Bernert, leave my attractive smile to Dean Bowdish.
I, Nonnie Van Moock, leave my ambition and determination to Jay Riley.
I, Bernice Webber, leave Olin Pepper in the hands of the Junior girls.
I, Richard Buse, leave my boisterousness to Ray Kestik.
I, Joyce Garrison, leave my big blue eyes to Betty Taylor.
I, Louise Heinz, leave happy and excited for a certain reason.
I, Barbara DeBok, leave my curly locks to Doris O'Hara.
I, Bob Bradley, leave without a girl.
I, Don King, leave my neat appearance to Albert Porter.
I, Mary Kay Johnson, leave with fond hopes for that Junior lad.
I, Lee Bettinger, leave Naideen.

I, Beverly Buchholz, leave my interest in journalism to Etta Payne.

I, Bob Smith, leave to my brother all my girls but one.

I, Harry Crandall, leave my seemingly dignified senior appearance to Don Crampton.

I, Roger Phillips, leave my ability to date the girls to Jay McMurren.

I, Bill Hetherington, leave my dramatic ability to anyone who is so dramatically inclined.

I, Bob Brending, leave my popularity to Tony Rinkes.

I, Richard Goold, leave Mary Robinson heart broken.

I, Ernest Jacobsen, leave my ability to woo the girls to Johnny Selnes.

I, Thelma Gear, leave my pleasantness to Lois Scheckla.

I, Bob Thornton, leave Margaret Ann to the rest of the wolves.

I, Norbert Methven, leave my fondness for study [?] to Bernice Brobst.

I, Audree Ream, leave my wide awake attitude to Norma Day.

I, Marilyn Miller, leave my science grades to anyone who needs them.

I, Evelyn Volpp, leave my regular attendance to Irene Shepard.

I, Sadie Ware, leave my height to Marcy Thornton.

I, Marilyn Bragg, leave my quiet unassuming ways to the Swing Band.

I, Wauneta Jones, leave my executive ability to anyone who is willing to work.

I, Dorothy Habel, leave my good photography to anyone who works on the Annual.

I, Viola Surerus, leave my ability to mix to Etta Payne.

I, Alice Read, leave my sunny disposition to Ione Johnson.

I, Paul Miken, leave my husky frame to next year's football team.

I, Lela Schauble, leave my vim, vigor and vitality to Cornelia Nichols.

I, Isabel McLean, leave my gracefulness to Pat Smith.

I, Esther Zerkel, leave my gift of gab to Roberta Yoemans.

I, Virginia Dineen, leave my silver soprano voice to Mr. Watson.

I, Jerry Vedder, leave my striking profile to Ralph Matile.

I, Rose Vedder, leave my love for a good time to Irene Silvers.

I, Betty Jennings, leave quietly.

I, Annalee Smith, leave my feminine ways to Dorothy Baars.

I, Dorothy Hallmeyer, leave my athletic ability to Leola Borland.

I, Lila Anderson, leave my freckles to Miss Cresap.

I, Vara Marcroft, leave my knowledge to office work to some ambitious Junior.

I, Francis Seaman, leave my pranks to Marcy Thornton.

In Witness therefore, we hereby declare this our last will and testament on the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and forty-four.

Under the able leadership of George Lipp and Dick Crandall, president and vice-president, respectively, the Junior class enjoyed a highly successful year. Members of the class participated in all sports and one, Jerry Ryan, was the only West Linn football player chosen for the T. Y. V. league all-star team.

The Juniors had a prom, one of the few in West Linn's history. It was based on the leap year spirit in that the girls took the boys. It was a great success.

Ralph Matile, popular athlete, was chosen student body president for next year.

The Junior class this year has decreased in size, but not in spirit. As we go into our senior year, we hope we shall be as successful as those classes who have preceded us.

I, Lee Bettinger, leave Naideen.

I, Beverly Buchholz, leave my interest in journalism to Etta Payne.

I, Bob Smith, leave to my brother all my girls but one.

I, Harry Crandall, leave my seemingly dignified senior appearance to Don Crampton.

I, Roger Phillips, leave my ability to date the girls to Jay McMurren.

I, Bill Hetherington, leave my dramatic ability to anyone who is so dramatically inclined.

1, Bob Brending, leave my popularity to Tony Rinkes.

I, Richard Goold, leave Mary Robinson heart broken.

I, Ernest Jacobsen, leave my ability to woo the girls to Johnny Selnes.

I, Thelma Gear, leave my pleasantness to Lois Scheckla.

I, Bob Thornton, leave Margaret Ann to the rest of the wolves.

I, Norbert Methven, leave my fondness for study [?] to Bernice Brobst.

I, Audree Ream, leave my wide awake attitude to Norma Day.

I, Marilyn Miller, leave my science grades to anyone who needs them.

I, Evelyn Volpp, leave my regular attendance to Irene Shepard.

I, Sadie Ware, leave my height to Marcy Thornton.

I, Marilyn Bragg, leave my quiet unassuming ways to the Swing Band.

I, Wauneta Jones, leave my executive ability to anyone who is willing to work.

I, Dorothy Habel, leave my good photography to anyone who works on the Annual.

I, Viola Surerus, leave my ability to mix to Etta Payne.

I, Alice Read, leave my sunny disposition to Ione Johnson.

I, Paul Miken, leave my husky frame to next year's football team.

I, Lela Schauble, leave my vim, vigor and vitality to Cornelia Nichols.

I, Isabel McLean, leave my gracefulness to Pat Smith.

I, Esther Zerkel, leave my gift of gab to Roberta Yoemans.

I, Virginia Dineen, leave my silver soprano voice to Mr. Watson.

I, Jerry Vedder, leave my striking profile to Ralph Matile.

I, Rose Vedder, leave my love for a good time to Irene Silvers.

I, Betty Jennings, leave quietly.

I, Annalee Smith, leave my feminine ways to Dorothy Baars.

I, Dorothy Hallmeyer, leave my athletic ability to Leola Borland.

I, Lila Anderson, leave my freckles to Miss Cresap.

I, Vara Marcroft, leave my knowledge to office work to some ambitious Junior.

I, Francis Seaman, leave my pranks to Marcy Thornton.

In Witness therefore, we hereby declare this our last will and testament on the twenty-ninth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and forty-four.

Under the able leadership of George Lipp and Dick Crandall, president and vice-president, respectively, the Junior class enjoyed a highly successful year. Members of the class participated in all sports and one, Jerry Ryan, was the only West Linn football player chosen for the T. Y. V. league all-star team.

The Juniors had a prom, one of the few in West Linn's history. It was based on the leap year spirit in that the girls took the boys. It was a great success.

Ralph Matile, popular athlete, was chosen student body president for next year.

The Junior class this year has decreased in size, but not in spirit. As we go into our senior year, we hope we shall be as successful as those classes who have preceded us.

Although our country is at war and knee-deep in rationing, the sophomores have done well to uphold the standards of West Linn. There were many activities in which we took part whole heartedly. Among them were all sports, band, chorus, pep club, home economics, and Latin clubs. We are very proud to say that in this past year, more sophomores are represented in the Honor Society than either Juniors or Seniors. Class officers are Jay McMurren, Gordon Murphy, Mary Kern, Palma Kittleson, and Dick Irion with Miss Rodman and Miss MacRae, our able advisors.

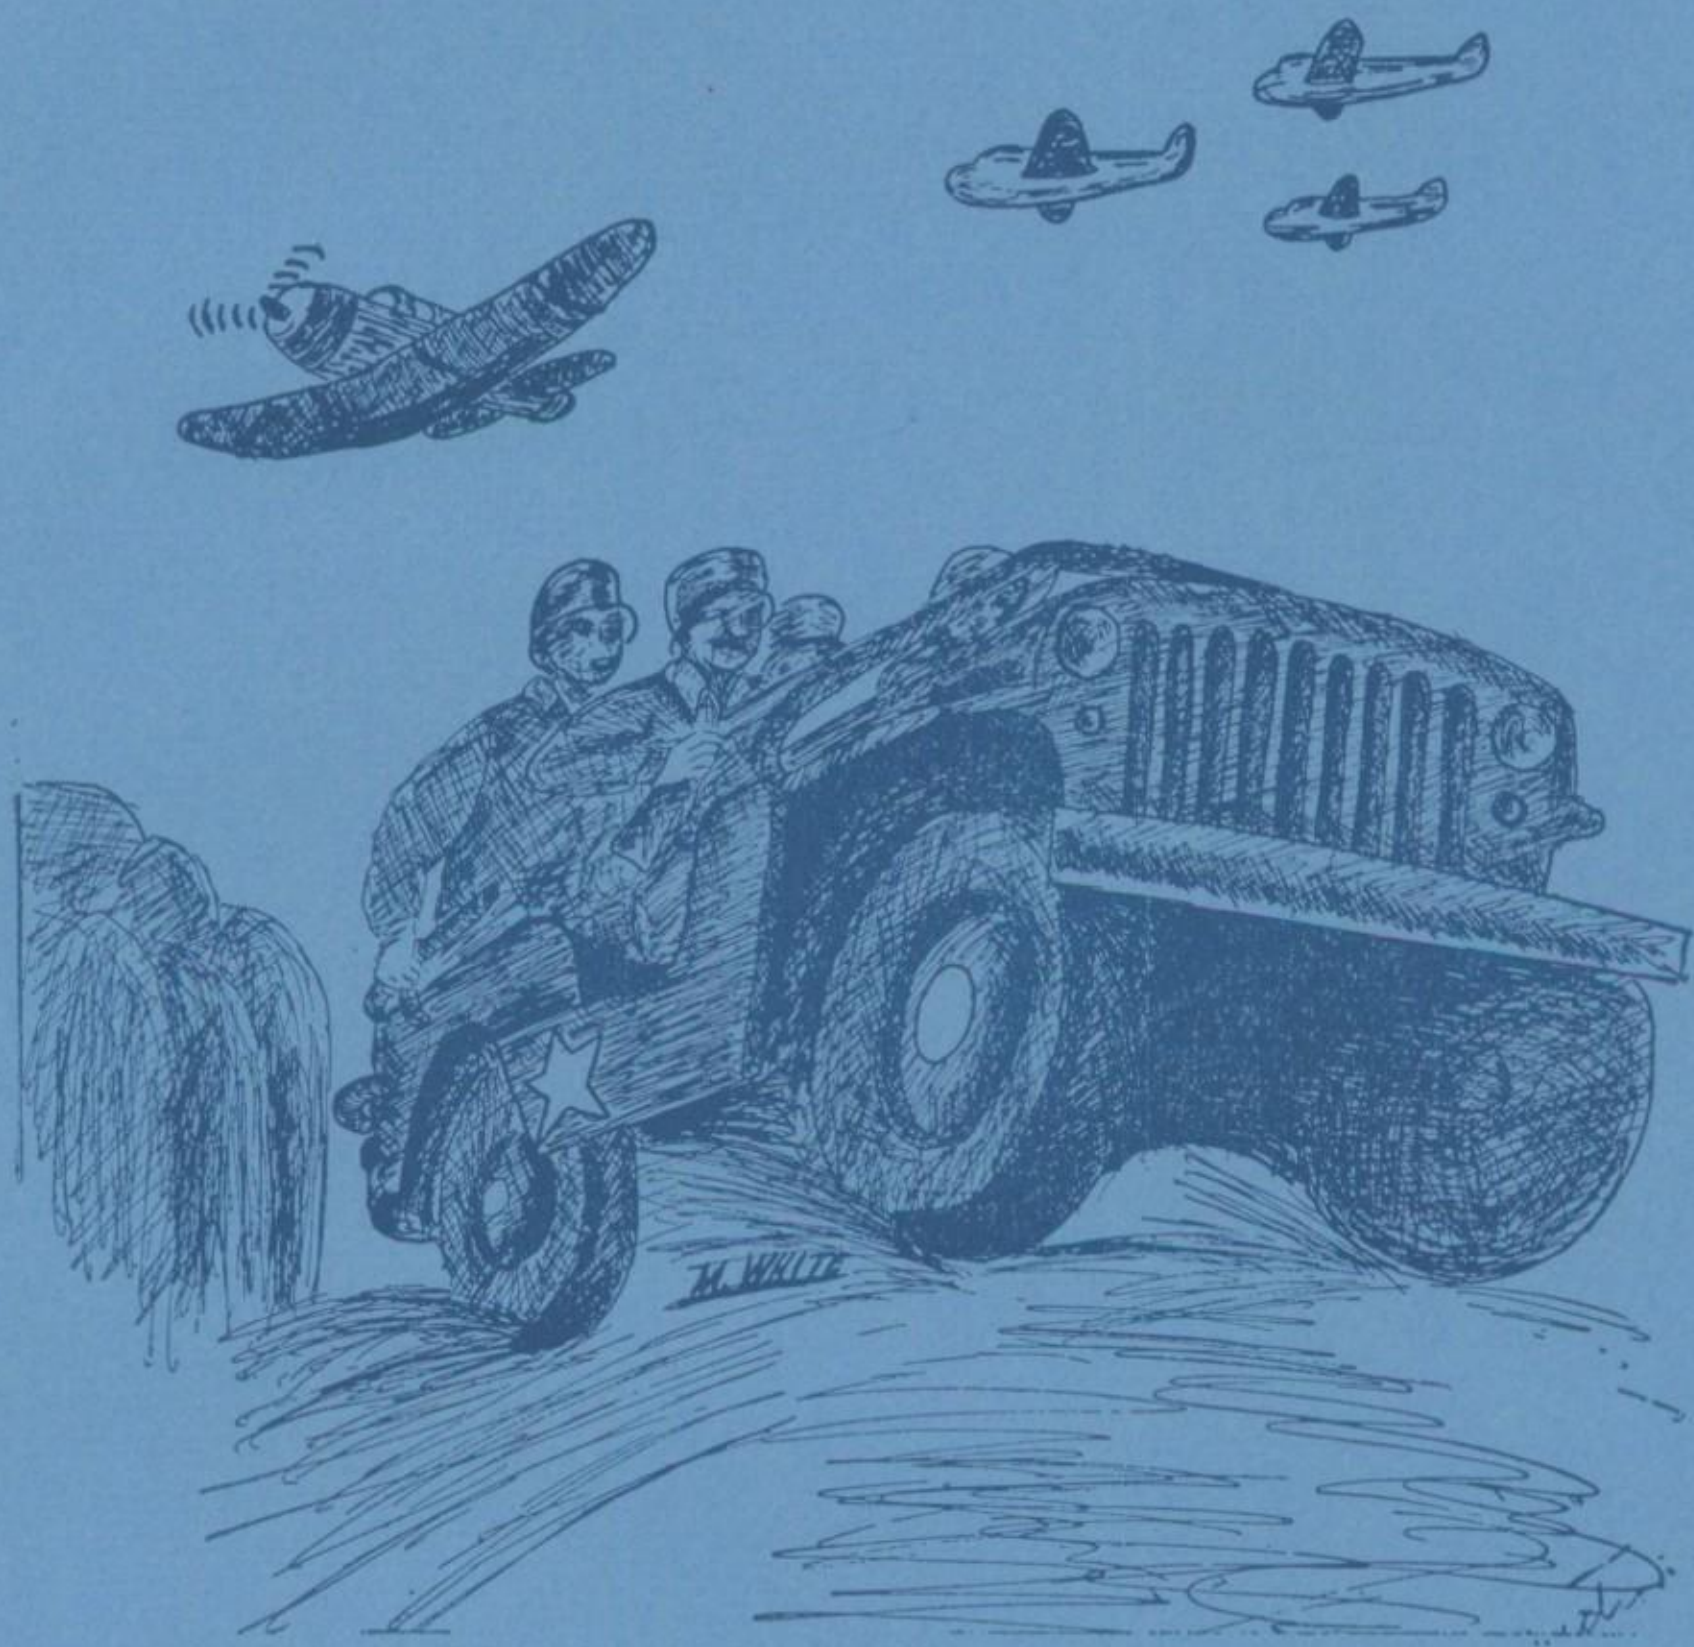
Although the "Freshies" got off to a rather bad start by losing the annual bag rush to the Sophomores, they soon made up for it in other fields.

We contributed several members to the band. Our beauty crop has added vitality to the Pep Club, while other melodious lads and lasses have added their talents to the Girl's and Boy's Choruses. We even invited the Sophomores to a skating party. This turned out to be a great success, thanks to our advisors, Miss Hart and Miss McGuire.

As a whole, Freshmen activities have been successes. Officers are Don Byers, president; Bruce Wolfe, vice-president; Betty Olson, secretary and Maralyn De Bok, treasurer.



ACTIVITIES

Annual Staff '44

It is the job of journalists to present to you a pictorial record of your school and to remind you of its good points, to note traditions and to foster them, to present a fair record of achievements and personalities, and to do these things as well as our time, money, and abilities permit.

The "Green and Gold," this year, attempts to be a real annual, a roundup of everybody at school, introducing us to one another, faculty, freshman, workers behind the scenes, artists, singers, leaders, followers, brain trusters, athletes, and, most of all, just plain West Linn students.

We want to express our gratitude to Mrs. Watson and the art classes for their splendid drawings. Without their help the Annual Staff could not have successfully produced this volume and we feel they deserve special tribute.

We, of the Amplifier staff of '43 and '44, hope that we have left you something to work with. We leave you Sports Editor, Stauffer, with his clever "Lockeroom Tattles" and good looking sport page. Also we leave you George Lipp, your Editor-in-Chief for next year.

A new editor, Mary Kay Johnson, was chosen and carried on with the able assistance of Beverly Buchholz and Etta Payne, managers, and Dorothy Habel, feature writer, with Lee Bettinger as news editor.

We also must mention the wit and able leadership of our advisor, Miss Ethel MacRae. We are sure without her enthusiasm we could not have carried out our plans.

We wish George Lipp and the new staff the best of luck and more news stories!

Dramatics

STUDENT BODY PLAY—THE BLUE BAG

Cast: Chattanooga, Mary Kay Johnson; Dramatics Coach, Miss MacRae; Mrs. Macklyn, Yvonne McCauley; Letty, Donna Shainholts. George, Bill Hetherington; Anton, Bob Wievesick; Bill, Darrell Thompson; Mr. Keefer, Don Hadley; Enid, Irene Shepard; Allen, Bud May; Mrs. Keefer, Margaret Van Laningham.

Dramatics, under the direction of Miss Ethel MacRae, has attempted to make their work this year, far more flexible in nature than the word, Drama, often implies.

Using the Drama class as the nucleus, its personnel has spent many hours of real work in rehabilitating the stage, a real task for an interior decorator. Mrs. Pearl Watson, with her timely suggestions, designed clever motifs for redecorating the large dressing room on the left of stage.

Stage work began with a thorough cleaning of both cyclorama and curtains, a much needed improvement. Flats, which are used in creating stage effects, are now found in a bin erected by the boys. The area, housing the footlights, was cleaned and the apron scraped and repainted. An endeavor to brighten the entire stage was brought about by the constant swish of brushes wielded by girls and boys, alike.

Students, as well as faculty, welcomed early in December the rib-tickling play, "The Blue Bag." Chattanooga was well supported by an earnest cast, for the most part, making their first appearance. Spring ushered in One-Act plays with participation by every member of the drama class.

The one-act play, "Betty Behave," was presented for the Mother's Day tea, May 12.

Football

CECIL JOHNSON
Outstanding Player

COACH BROWN

ART HUEBNER
Inspiration

An epoch of football enthusiasm enclosed the West Linn campus the first of the football season as the Lions made their annual jaunt to Kelly Field and whipped the Oregon City Pioneers 13 to 6. This stretches West Linn's win streak over the Pioneers to three straight.

In league competition the Lions didn't fare very well, because most of their players were participating in their first year of varsity ball; while other T.Y.V. schools had an abundant supply of lettermen.

The Lions managed to end the season with an even percentage with four wins and four losses as they subdued three non-league opponents.

Cecil Johnson—Without his driving and ability we surely would have been lost.

Art Huebner—Selected by the team as the most inspirational player. A really good end.

Bob Brending—A good player to have for tough blocking assignments. Played guard.

Lee Hornshuh—His blocking from the center position was responsible for much yardage on plays through the center of the line.

Wayne Robertson—Though not an exceptional runner he was deadly when a pass was coming his way.

Paul Miken—An outstanding tackle, large and heavy enough to stop any fellow coming his way.

Bob Wood—Tough, small, his passing and place kicking from the tail back spot also accounted for many valuable points.

Lee Bettinger—Tough, small, he very effectively blocked on all the plays.

Bill Larson—Another end who should have come out for football sooner. Showed great promise.

Bob Smith—He was always in breaking up plays. A very effective player on defense.

Mr. Nixon

When Mr. Nixon left West Linn High School in March to join the armed forces, faculty and student body wished him well. His going was a real loss and we all look forward to the time when he will return.

The Lions have received some pretty hard breaks this year. They started the season under Coach Sam Nixon, but when he was called into the service, the position was taken by Earl Stone, their present mentor. The armed service handed them a set-back when it took Cecil Johnson, one of their three experienced players, and surely one of their best. The Lions' record for the season is 6 wins and 10 losses.
